About us

We create books recognizing the value of childhood. We have energy, great big content for children and parents, and a vision for development. We grow and develop, step by step, opening new opportunities in what and how we create. We understand that the best is always created by people with love in their hearts with a team of like-minded people.

Our mission

Publishing Books of Value to support parents raising their children on the basis of family values, the highest human qualities, and conscious harmony with nature.

? For most parents the question isn't where to buy a children's book, it is WHAT to buy? What gives this book value? Will it help in the harmonious development of my child?

From Heart to Heart . . .

The special role of fairy tales for a child is to remove inner limitations and help reveal the unique personality in all their beauty and power

About the author

Olga's voice was formed by 20 years of professional experience interacting with children and parents, students and teachers, and employees of companies from 15 countries while developing her Heart-to-Heart philosophy.

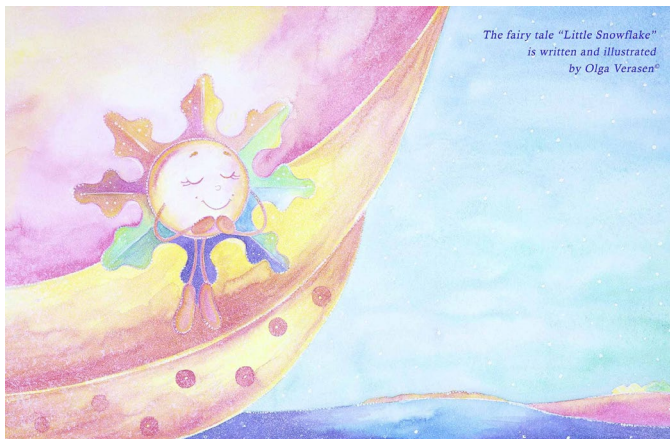

"If we parents help our children learn how to consciously create their own life with peace and love in their hearts in unity with Nature, we give them the foundation for their happiness. Creating a happier world from a happy family is the motivation for everything that I do for you as an educator, coach, writer, artist." – says Olga.

All books display handmade illustrations with bright and clear colors. It's nice to linger over and study the details. They are aimed to harmoniously develop the emotional sphere of a child's personality and health.
